MOVE 'N PLAY

play and exercise in one movement

Norwell Junior Move'n Play is based on the natural desire and motivation for play among juniors. By giving them a different set of physical challenges on the playground, it quickly turns into play and exercise in one and the same movement.

Our Move'n Play series is much more cool and exciting than the usual swings and climbing racks normally available to them.

When they climb, slide, arm walk, spinn or swing the equipment, in reality they exercise the same muscle groups as if performing a targeted training program at a fitness center – only having much more fun!

the freedom of choice

The Move'n Play equipment gives the juniors a freedom of choice: They can hang out and chill or be busy working out and having a friendly competition, determining who is best at what.

The minimalistic and sculptural design opens up the imagination and playfulness, enabling you to exercise in the coolest way ever. The equipment is approved for playgrounds and sets a stage for the juniors to hang out and use it as they please – without it being a too childlike situation for them.

top quality design and materials

Norwell Junior Move'n Play is a combination of stainless steel and powder coating.

This visual contrast draws the attention to the parts of the equipment where you can make things happen: The aesthetic composition of the dark main curves and the stainless steel action points creates a natural attraction to the users.

The equipment is manufactured from the very best materials by our supplier in Germany who has also contributed to the development of this series.

Move'n Play is a new, unique line of top quality with a high durability and big value for play and movement.
